

Lambs, L., BompY, F., & Dulormne, M. (2018). Using an “isotopic spike” from a tropical storm to understand water exchange on a large scale: Case study of Hurricane Rafael in the lesser antilles archipelago, October 2012. Rapid Communications in Mass Spectrometry, 32(6), 457–468.